

Shane Clester

The king decided he would make sure Orange Sector knew they were the best. "We're the best!" many of Orange Sector agreed. (They liked to be called the best.)

How do you think the other residents of Acirema felt when they heard this?

Although many Orange Sector residents—and surprisingly, even some from other sectors agreed with the king, many did not. Even some in Orange Sector shook their heads in disagreement at the king's declaration.

But that simple declaration changed Acirema, as residents argued whether Orange Sector was better than anyone else. Then, they argued over who was the next best. Instead of all the residents living peacefully together, they were all pointing out how each other was different and why those differences were somehow wrong.

Shane Clester

Shane Clester

Shane Clester

Shane Clester

